

THE LAST SUPPER

1. And it came to pass that Jesus and his disciples were come unto the Upper Room. Yet the door was closed and sealed. And Jesus looked up to heaven and sighed. And behold, He spoke, saying, "Ephatha!" (which in Hebrew means "be opened").
2. And immediately there came a sound likened unto corks being drawn from bottles. And verily there was heard the clinking of glasses.
3. And lo! There was also the sound of a rushing mighty wind.
4. And Bartholomew, one of the twelve, did apologise.
5. And Jesus spoke unto his disciples, saying, "Pass your glasses unto me." And they did so. And they were all filled unto the brim.
6. And looking around him Jesus asked of them, "Where is Judas? Could he not sit with us but one hour?"
7. And Peter spoke and saith unto Him, "I know not, Lord." And all the others said the same.
8. And Thomas began to doubt even then. But he was like that.
9. And Jesus said, Take some bread, and eat it," And the loaf (and not the cup) was broken by Him, and there were many crumbs that no one could number.
10. And lo! They all did eat of the one loaf.
11. And Jesus said , "Pass this bowl of wine among all of you, and dip your crusts."
12. And Peter took Him aside and saith unto Him, "Lord, what is this called?"
13. And saith He unto Peter, "Intinction."
14. And Judas (not Iscariot but the other one) said unto Jesus, "What now, rabbi?"
15. Then sayeth Jesus unto him, "We will sing the hymn and then get some fresh air in the garden. You also, Bartholomew."
16. And they went out. And it was night.
